

Exordia Job Costing Dealer Package

Exordia Software Ltd develops and supplies quality business management tools for a broad range of applications in industry and commerce. Exordia programs have been designed to add value to the Sage range of software products to provide integrated solutions for end users.

Exordia Software's 32 bit Job Costing system adds the cost management dimension to Sage Line 50 Accounts. The software includes estimating and billing and features future cost management through commitment accounting and cost forecasting. The program merges with Sage Line 50 Accounts and links with Sage Payroll to provide an integrated accounting and cost management solution for the small to medium sized organisation.

The Dealership Package that Exordia Software Ltd offers positions the Dealer to maximise the potential value add from the software. It provides training and support to help you sell Job Costing and gain new customers. The package also allows access to a substantial dealer discount and a range of support services and special offers.
